1874 ~ 1974

"A Century Of Memories"

A little bit of history, pictures, and Memories.

As in all things there is a beginning. For Alameda High School, its beginning was in 1874 in a small room over Elbe's Drug Store, now the site of Walt's Men's Shop at Park and Santa Clara Streets.

With an unexpected enrollment of 80 students, A.H.S. moved to a three-story wooden building near the Old Haight School on Santa Clara Ave.

Combining the high school with Haight Elementary School in 1897 made the enrollment of nearly 100 students easier to handle for the seven teachers.

High School then in Alameda consisted of a three-year course of study for junior, middle, and senior years. Students took part in English, history, Greek, Latin, math, Civics, German, physics, and chemistry. One-third of all the graduates entered college.

Twenty-eight proud seniors walked through Principal Dr. A.W. Scott's office in 1897 to receive their diplomas. The graduation ball in June climaxed the Commencement celebration.

Principal Scott's replacement in 1904 was Dr. George Thompson.

After

the turn of the century, the first school-sponsored activities began. Students were involved in a new era as football, baseball, track, drama, and other subjects were introduced into the curriculum.

By the early 1900's it was evident that a larger school was needed to house the ever growing number of AHS students. With the help of Alameda High School's student body, a school bond election was held, ending with spirited students celebrating the victory with a bonfire that evening.

In 1902 and 1903 the new Alameda High School, presently the language building, was built and dedicated. At that time, the total enrollment reached over 200 students.

Steadily increasing in size, Alameda High School's student body in 1904 had grown to 372 students with 12 teachers.

Dr. A.W. Scott, principal for 11 years, retired in 1904, having presented diplomas to all but 80 of the 550 AHS graduates up to that time.

His replacement for the fall term of 1904 was a 31 year old scholar, Dr. George C. Thompson. During his time as principal from 1904 to 1939, enrollment increased from 372 to 1,000 students.

Alameda High School was developing as rapidly as the city. In 1902 Alameda was changed from a peninsula from Oakland Harbor to San Leandro Bay.

In 1904, the Alaskan Packers Association, then the largest salmon packing company in the world, selected Alameda as its winter quarters. With its new freight terminals, Alameda became an important shipping port on the Pacific Coast.

A big part of the entertainment in the second decade of the 1900's were the tunes that came out of the victrollas. Tunes like "Too Much Mustard," "Alexander's Rag time Band," and "When you Wore a Tulip" numbered among the popular songs for high schoolers.

"Class Shieks," like those of 1910, and "loungelizards," were learning to dance the "Argentine Tango," a bit daring for the teens of those days. But all wasn't "Wine and Roses," for in August, 1914, World War I began.

Coach Otto Rittler joined the AHS faculty in 1914. His German Military background not only put the rugby, football, baseball, basketball, and swim teams in winning form, but also helped develop women's athletics at Alameda High.

Also in training in 1914 were numbers of Alameda High School Cadet Corps, under the leadership of C.P. Magagnos, captain of the local National Guard unit. The cadets drilled with retired Civil War Rifles.

"Acorn"

By the end of World War I, Alameda High and the world had undergone a tremendous change. In 1918 the ACORN was dedicated to A.H.S. graduates who had volunteered their services to the defense of their country. Citizens, realizing the terror of war, danced in the streets because the war to end all wars was over.

The educational process continued at A.H.S. Courses offered increased by adding home economics, industrial arts, and business education classes.

In 1917 girls had their fads too. They wore head bands of thin ribbon which went across the forehead and tied in the back. Dresses in the early twenties were mid-calf and girls wore long bulky coats with big pockets and collars. Some of the lucky ones even had coats trimmed with fur. Their hair was short and in soft feminine waves. Young gentlemen wore short pants, high-top shoes, pullover sweaters and brimmed caps.

Most students walked to A.H.S., some bicycled and still others took the street cars. A few elite though, did drive the family auto.

In the post war years more young men were becoming interested in the R.O.T.C. programs such as the marching band, the color guard, the rifle team and the many different platoons.

The early morning flag raising ceremony at Alameda High School is a proud tradition carried on by the Alameda High JROTC Cadet Battalion. The flag raising tradition was started more than 50 years ago in the fall of 1923 when the Alameda Cadet Corps was first authorized.

Every effort is made to carry on these traditions established by preceding JROTC classes and to formulate and refine the numerous events and competitions which are so much a part of a viable organization.

The JROTC curriculum, a flexible one, broadens the cadets' experience and provides them with a means of self-development. It stresses the importance of physical education and development, as well as good citizenship and self-discipline.

A variety of activities are offered through JROTC, which is now open for participation by the girls. Among these are drill teams, honor guards, rifle teams, field trips to local military installations, orientation flights in different aircraft, and various cadet social events.

High School's most memorable occasion was the dedication of the present high school on August 18, 1926. Although the science wing was recently remodeled and the language wing rebuilt, the structure of the main building remains essentially the same as it was in 1926.

With the new school came many new clubs and organizations such as the Men's Block "A" which was started by Coach Otto Rittler. Other clubs included the German Club, Sword and Shield, Circulus Latinus, which was the largest club in 1930, and many more.

Wild-colored socks were the fad in 1926 along with baggy pants and pull over sweaters. Girls enjoyed large colorful bows and hemlines to the knees.

In 1930 Alameda High School's swim team captured the ACAL swimming title and recorded their most successful season up to that date.

In 1929, however, the stock market crashed and left many Americans in a state of panic. In the period following the crash, great numbers of families felt the rising unemployment rate. It was then that the city's Chamber of Commerce was organized to look over every part of the city's welfare.

"Men who wear the gold and white
Men who hear the call to fight
Battle now for school and right.
On to victory."

These words are the first stanza of the Alameda High School Hymn. Students sang it at the end of assemblies and always displayed loyalty for the school and city. In 1936 Alameda's loyal Ad Board voted 36-2 in favor of a strike because the new school board had discharged Superintendent William G. Paden. At this time the city government was in a complete upheavel. Two new city councilmen sought to change the school board and many of the appointed offices such as the city manager in Alameda.

A tremendous scandal took place during the ensuing year. On May 7, 1935, fists flew and threats became rampant at the city council meeting. The first thirty days of new city rule saw almost a complete turnover because the newly appointed city manager, B. Ray Fritz, dismissed reputable officials and squandered city money for his personal gain.

When he had Mr. Paden dismissed, the students decided it was time for a change. They walked out of their classrooms and conducted an orderly protest. They said they wouldn't return to classes until Paden was reinstated as superintendent. The entire town was now concerned and a meeting was held in front of the high school. Protestors said that the action of the city officials was "an attempt to obtain, control of the educational system, of our city for their own selfish ends."

The district attorney, Mr. E. Warren, stated that Mr. Paden's contract was for four years and that the board could not dismiss him unless a breach of contract was acted upon. Paden was reinstated and students resumed their normal routines.

Soon after these trying political days, our nation was faced with another critical period in history. Adolf Hitler was uniting forces in Germany and Japan was preparing its attack on Pearl Harbor.

The 1940 student body administration started off under the leadership of president Robert Crown. Crown later went on to become a well known California assemblyman. He died in May 1973 in a traffic accident.

Crown's administration marked many firsts-more money taken in during football season than ever before, the first night football rally and the Oak Leaf, the school newspaper, was republished after 5 years' idleness. The A.H.S. student body also welcomed Matt Bryan as new principal and Lloyd Sisler as drama coach.

1940 was also a memorable one for the football team and its followers. The Hornets defeated the Berkeley Yellowjackets, 12-6, for the first time in 23 years, thus ending the "Berkeley Jinx." The team struggled through the following years, coming close, but never winning a league title. In 1950 they tied with Berkeley for the A.C.A.L. title. All county team selections included Phil Thormahlen, Wayne Raymond, and George Lagono.

The basketball team had better luck during those years. By 1948, Coach Hank Jones had led the Hornet Club to five A.C.A.L. championships in six years. The 1942 varsity baseball team also took the league championship.

The beginning of World War II brought many changes to the A.H.S. student body. Students and teachers alike enlisted in the armed forces, and the 1942 ACORN was dedicated to them. In 1943, Student Body President Dean Hamilton enlisted in the Navy and was called to active duty before his term expired. The effects of the War found 240 students in the R.O.T.C. program in the school. The 1946 yearbook was dedicated to the 75 men from the school who had died serving their country.

Extracurricular activities during those school days included dansants, skating parties, military balls, and circus days. Penny loafers, saddle shoes, and bobby sox were the height of fashion. Gary Cooper and Greer Garson were the students' favorite actor and actress. Glen Miller and "Sentimental Journey" rated highly with the students as their favorite band and song respectively. Other favorites included Ingrid Bergman, Van Johnson, Dinah Shore and Bing Crosby.

During the years 1948 - 1954 Alameda High students excelled in athletics and the theatre.

Coach Hank Jones' Hornet cagers captured five championships in six years, highlighted by the 1953 first place finish in the Tournament of Champions at Berkeley.

Outstanding performers included Bill Thompson, Sam Hitcher, and Willie Davis, all of whom were named All Northern California, All Tournament of Champions, and all ACAL.

With Mr. Lloyd Sisler directing the drama program, such top plays as "You Can't Take It With You," "Pink Magic," and "Father of the Bride" were performed by the students in the auditorium.

In 1951, during the Korean conflict, Principal Matt Bryan urged all students to stay in school and graduate, not to enlist in the service.

With the advent of rock and roll, many new dances became popular. Favorite television programs included "I Love Lucy," "Dragnet," and "Time for Beany."

In 1955 AHS won its first undisputed football championship under the leadership of Chuck Butler. In 1956 Vice-President Ethel Rogers announced that Alameda High was the first school in the nation to win the National Safety Award eleven years in a row. Lew Jolley, Hank Jones, and Chuck Butler were hailed as great coaches in their fields of track, baseball, and football, respectively.

In 1958 the new west wing of the building was built and once during its construction, operations got out of hand and the neighboring classes had to be evacuated.

This was the period of rock and roll and high school life was greatly influenced by the new trend. Noon dances, hops, proms and balls attracted large crowds, even though records provided most of the music.

Junior sweaters were a big hit with the students. Sororities and fraternities were very much a part of the school scene, with names such as the Deltas, Dianas, Sub-Debs, Spartans, Alatheans, and Delthinians. Boys' hair was styled in crewcuts and girls' pom-pon outfits were way below the knee.

The football team performed before over-crowded bleachers and the halftime show was provided by the A.H.S. award-winning band.

1960 started Alameda's still-intact football winning streak over cross-town rival Encinal. Chuck Butler retired as head coach due to an illness, and his position was amply filled by Forrest Klein, who then led the Hornet team to an impressive 81-7-2 record during his stay. Bob Blomberg and Bob DeCelle excelled in their respective fields of golf and cross-country during 1963. DeCelle lost his life in Viet Nam and since then a memorial award in his name has been established and is presented each year to the outstanding member of the cross-country team. Chris Speier, shortstop for the San Francisco Giants, began his career at A.H.S.

Matt Bryan retired as principal after 18 years and Lowell Mell replaced him until 1964.

In the fall of 1964 Mr. Ralph Cioffi became principal and remained until health reasons caused his retirement in the spring of 1967.

In 1967, Alameda High School spirit was alive and thriving with new goals and a new principal.

With a sudden illness, Principal Ralph Cioffi left and Encinal's Principal Don Bell came to Alameda. Math classes, along with other classes, were changing from old programs to new. Computers took the place of teachers in recording the grades.

With the appointment of ACORN advisor Rick Gamble in 1968, AHS saw many changes in the school's newspaper and yearbook.

1970 brought on a cross-town exchange week between Encinal and Alameda High School students. Also that year Harry Paslay, the first boy ever to receive the title of head yell leader, was elected at Alameda.

Changes again appeared when principal Don Bell retired in 1971 after his 37-year career. Replacing Principal Harry J. Price he began at Alameda in the fall of 1971.

During the late 60's and early 70's the athletic teams won 35 consecutive games between 1967 and 1971 enroute to 3 A.C.A.L. titles. The boys' swim team won 9 consecutive championships from '63 to '71, the golf squad captured five titles, and the cross country team took two during the same period.

1973 was marked by Porter School's unfortunate destruction by fire, while A.H.S. students were notified of their eviction in June 1975, due to the California Field Act which requires that school buildings be earthquake safe. Plans are underway for a bond election November 12, 1974, to provide funds for the rebuilding the school at its present site.

Today, in Alameda's one hundreth year, the high school is proudly graduating the centennial class of 1974.

Student Officers Bring Unity and Active Moments To Classes at AHS

Fall Student Bodv Officers were led into 1974 by President Robbie Silverman, and Vice President Sheila Lynch. Recording Secretary Bobbie Elzig and Financial Secretary Allison Kapchan managed to keep up on the happenings of every day life at AHS. Yell Leader Liz Chavez was alwavs ready with enough spirit to keep students rolling.

Some of the active moments were held by the discussion of Students on the Board of Education as non-voting members, so that we would be able to give our opinions on the different issues. Another thought was that of individual offices or desks for each of the officers to work at. Robbie was very proud of the assembly results and that the human relations workshop was such a success. Thev also liked the thought of painting doors, to help brighten up the atmosphere around AHS.

Each of the officers by the end of their office were put in charge of a project. Sheila took care of elections, Bobbie scheduled a Vollevball tournament, and Robbie and Allison pushed environmental awareness.

Don Ratto, speaker of AD Board, and members worked hard all year. They sponsored opening dance featuring Elvis Duck.

Spirit week this year was based on class competition. Each class performed at a rally during the week. The senior class won the $25.00 prize. The board attended the S.L. conference this year and participated in many other activities.

The Student Curriculum Council is finally getting on its feet with Sharon McCorkell, chairperson, and Barb Jacak, co-chairperson. The S.C.C. compiled a book of courses and each class offered to aid students in selecting teachers and classes. The members work on improving present courses and installing new ones.

Gray skies, muddy field: 1973 Homecoming

The 1973 Homecoming game, held on Nov. 16, was wet and very muddy, but the events still progressed. To begin the weeks activities the Queen candidates dug through flour for pennies. Another had the King candidates feeding the queens while blindfolded. For all of their efforts the boys received eggs dropped on their heads.

At the game, halftime was to be the setting for the crowning, however due to traffic some participants were late. The Queen Debbi Sivyer and King Dave Archibald were then crowned after the game.

'Damn Yankees' A Success

All School Play Director Lon Eakes selected March 21, 22 and 23 as the dates of the musical "Damn Yankees."

Student actors worked long and hard to polish their performances. Centering around the character Joe Boyd, a baseball fan, tired of seeing the Yankees win the pennant every year. Joe ends up selling his soul to the Devil in order to help Washington beat the Yankees.

Full of song and lighthearted humor Damn Yankees stars Kelly Richardson. The rest of the cast includes: Meg: Lissa Harrison; Applegate: Ted Smith; Sister: Lisa Hempy; Doris: Jane Bradley; Lola: Cindy Pingree; Gloria: Denise Healy; Welch: George Layton; Van Buren: John Buitrago; Commissioner: Dan Miller; Postmaster: David Brown; Lynch: Betsy Purcell; Weston: Lynn Stiles; Weston's Asst.: Veronica Dare; Three fans and three girls: Debbie Barker, Laurie Joseph, Jan Brown. 100th Staff Brings The Years Together

Barb Snopkowski led the yearbook staff in the production of the 100th ACORN for AHS. Section editors included Carol Molnar for Student Life, Vicki Lowther managing the Seniors, and Lyn Lasar with the Faculty.

Bob Rhodes led Dan Mills, Jim Egerman, Steve Brown, Craig Lagillo, and Jim Peirce in the photography. ACORN advisor was Mr. Rick Gamble.

The staff worked hard this year to produce the best ACORN possible for the students to keep and treasure from the 100th year of AHS.

Orchestra Performs Before Enthusiastic Audiences During Fall and Spring Semesters

The Orchestra has had a busy Fall Semester presenting concerts of high quality to enthusiastic audiences. They have more talent in the group this year than ever before and consequently have featured many soloists and ensembles to various organizations within our community. A new format was utilized in the Christmas Concert enabling music to be used of a higher calibre and because of the talent within the group the program was well received.

In January the Orchestra presented a Winter Concert to an appreciative audience; the soloist for this concert was Scott Janusch who performed the "Oboe Concert" by Corelli.

During the Spring Semester students started rehearsing the music to "Damn Yankees" which was performed in March by the combined efforts of the Fine Arts Dept. On Saturday March 30th a large number of students performed both solos and ensembles on the state level at California University at Hayward. The Orchestra then began work on the Spring Concert which was presented in May.

Instrumentalists from the orchestra presented a program in the elementary schools to better acquaint the students with the instruments of the band and orchestra. The school year conluded by participating in the AHS Graduation in June.

Glee Clubs: Add Song To Alameda

Directed by Ruth Kolletson, the vocal groups have been very active this year, beginning with the program at the Adelphin Club for parents and children, and the Christmas concert for the public in the auditorium.

Christmas time was a busy time for the groups. Caroling in San Francisco and on Christmas tree lane, and also in AHS's own halls added to the holiday spirit.

On May 1, the Vocal Concert proved to be outstanding, as was the Spring Concert later in the month.

Individuals from the music department also participated in the all school play, a musical entitled "Damn Yankees."

First Woman President at AHS

The Spring Student Body Officers have many hopes, plans and aspirations for the semester. Their main objective is to promote spirit within our Student Body and in turn bring more of a feeling of a unity to AHS. Some of the ways they are going to try to accomplish those objectives are by noon-time activities, (Sock hop, ping pong, and hockey tournaments), dances, promoting school clubs and hopefully getting involved on the Board of Education.

Allison Kapchan, AHS's first woman president in 100 years, has many plans for the spring semester. Vice-president Debbie Duncan has placed 5 easy-to-get-to suggestion boxes around the school. Financial Secretary Ruben Hernandez is very interested in getting better entertainment at our student meetings. Recording Secretary Kris Krulinski plans a dance marathon. Yell Leader Mariella Pacovsky is working toward a loving feeling of unity for all of AHS.

The Officers want to make this semester fun and prosperous; by providing activities for the students and planning for the future of the new Alameda High School.

Ad-Board Brings AHS Closer Together

The Spring Ad-Board was headed by Speaker Debbie Duncan, Vice-Speaker Cindy Powell, and Recording Secretary Lynn Pearson.

This semesters Ad-Board was devoted mainly to bringing the students of AHS closer together. Under the faculty leadership of A.J. Cooper, the board accomplished projects submitted to them by the student body and themselves. A ping-pong and volleyball tournament between classes along with a spring dance were very successful.

Some academic accomplishments were tallying the WASC (Western Association of Schools and Colleges) questionnaires and a poll that was taken about plans for a new Alameda High School.

Spring Lines: Most Active In 100 Years

The Spring Spirit Lines were lead by Head Pom Pon Girl Betty Murray and Head Yell Leader Mariella Pacovsky.

Betty's Line included Nanette Barbera, Mari Ikeda, Lori Childe, JoeAnn Sonido, Deseri Cox, Kathy Laramie, and Kathy Burges.

Mariella's girls were Stu Ogle, Joann Tinder, Ann Cucchiara, Paula Brogdon, and Sandy Jay.

In the past years at AHS the spirit usually takes a great decline, but the girls changed that tradition. Both lines attended all the basketball games regardless of where they were held. After completing an enthusiastic basketball season the spirit line cheered on at as many golf, baseball, swimming and tennis matches as possible.

Hornet Girls Sting Encinal 20-17

Inspired by the suggestions of two students from Alameda and Encinal High Schools, the [illegible] Powder Puff basketball game was held to benefit the John Parashak fund.

Alameda's female hornets buzzed on to a 20-17 win in the EHS gym on March 8th, 1974.

The first quarter started off with the amazing score of 3-2 in favor of the Jets.

Sparked by Lisa Kearny, Diana Souza and Des Cox, the girls overcame the one point deficit and built up a 10 point lead before coasting in with the easy victory.

Alameda coaches included Don Ratto, Bob Rhodes, and Jack Healy while Dan Chaix singlehandledly managed the sharp shooting Jet team.

Players included Bobbie and Becky Bowman, Pam Baughman, Desiree Cox, Barb Cook, Liz Everett, Anne Hasagawa, Lisa Kearny, Lyndsay Kvsor, Mari Ikeda, Diana Souza, Elaine Scott, Barbara Snopkowski and Linda Snyder.

The event proved to be a tremendous success as over $350.00 was collected to donate to John's recovery fund.

Alameda Finishes Second in A.C.A.L.

After losing three of it's first four games, the young Alameda Varsity Football Team rebounded to win five straight games and finish second in the South A.C.A.L.

The Hornets, picked by coaches and sportswriters to finish last, turned the season around by stunning the East Bay's fourth ranked J.F. Kennedy Eagles, 23-7, for their first A.C.A.L. win.

Also highlighting the season were come-from-behind triumphs over arch-rival Encinal, 17-14 and Pacific, 22-20.

Total dedication by all the players when everyone thought the Hornets were dead, proved the key to this season. A good example of this was the win over Encinal.

Quarterback George Calandri marched the Varsity 80 yards in the final three minutes and capped the drive by passing to end Larry Plummer in the end zone with 55 seconds left to play.

The coaching staff selected: George Calandri as Most Improved during the season, Dave Archibald as Most Inspirational and Stan Antunovich as Most Valuable.

Dave Archibald was named to the All-A.C.A.L. first team as a defensive halfback.

Top linemen included: Phil Slown, Tom McKee, Dave Miller, Larry Plummer, Mark Berlin (second team All-A.C.A.L.), John Hanson, and Stan Antunovich.

Backs who played well were: Mark Ironside, Bob Pagano, Harry Hartman, John Healy, and Dave Archibald.

JV's and Soph-Frosh Keep Trying

The Alameda Junior Varsity Football Team finished with a respectable record of 6 wins, 3 loses, and 1 tie during the 1973 season. They ended the season with a come-from-behind tie with Encinal and losses to Pacific and Berkeley.

Mike Cooper, the J.V. quarterback during the first seven games, became ill and Pete Michaeletos, up from the frosh, filled in for him and did a good job.

The offensive punch was delivered by running backs Robbie Kahuanui and Brett Conners, while tight end Tim White was Cooper's favorite receiver.

Defensively, the standouts on the J.V.'s were; line-backer George Miller, tackles Eddie Phillips and Tim Keegan, end Brett Conners, safety Brad Osborn and halfbacks Terry Schaben and Robbie Kahuanui. Robbie Kahaunui was also voted Most Valuable Junior Varsity Player.

The 1973 Soph-Frosh Team had quite a tough season this year, finishing with a 1-5-2 record. Outstanding quarterback was Pete Michaeletos. Most Valuable Soph-Frosh Player was Mike Roberts.

Cross Country: a League Power

The 1973 Alameda Cross Country teams had an outstanding season. The varsity season record was 13 and 1, losing only to Castro Valley. They placed second in the ACAL behind DeAnza, third at Division one, and eleventh at North Coast out of 140 schools. Jim Peirce and Pete Ryan were the only returning Lettermen.

The JV's, Soph-Frosh, and Reserves backed up the Varsity with good ability, and determination. The JV's had a winning season with a first place at South ACAL, and third at ACAL. The top three, finishers for Alameda were Jesse Brewer, Bill Dodge, and Glen Farrington.

The Soph Frosh placed fourth at the league meet and at the North Coast Meet they placed eleventh. Outstanding runners for Soph-Frosh were: Don Brownson, Cris Warren, Dennis Kriess, and Ron Moore.

Varsity Suffers Through Losing Season

Alameda's Varsity basketball team suffered through a mediocre 7-19 season while finishing fourth in the five team southern division of the A.C.A.L.

The only league wins came over Pacific 46-40 and 48-46. During the pre-season the Hornets won five of 13 games including four straight over Emery, Memorial, J.F. Kennedy, and Newark.

Dave Haber was named the Outstanding Senior while John Healy won the Outstanding Junior award. Haber was named to the All-A.C.A.L. second team.

Haber topped the team in scoring and rebounding with a 16.4 scoring average and 9.1 rebounds per game respectively.

Senior Ken Fong and Junior Frank Totorica started at guard while Terry White and Rob McGowan performed ably as reserves.

Along with Haber and Healy in the front line, seniors Todd Wilcox, Brian Boerman, Dave McFann, and Bob Rhodes saw plenty of action.

Carol Molnar, varsity scorekeeper during her junior and senior years, was honored for her outstanding contribution to the basketball program. She received a plaque at the Spring Awards program.

JV's Youngest Ever

Coach Gary Fenstermaker combined one Junior, one Freshman and three Sophmores to form the nucleus of the youngest J.V. Team in recent years.

In all 13 Sophs played for the J.V.'s and lack of experience showed throughout most of the season.

Heading the team was Junior Doug Young, the teams top scorer, and Frosh center Dan Anderson, who demonstrated oustanding poise for a first year player.

Sophs Ron Arnerich, Brett Conners and Ray Quintana, rounded out the starting five. Sophs Gary Veasey and Mike Souza, and junior Eugene Sonido also saw plenty of action.

Lack of height hurt the JV's in many games during A.C.A.L. play, but the young Hornets battled every opponent like they were playing for a championship.

Frosh Shows Promise

The Frosh basketball team under the direction of new Coach Dave Fairfield showed signs of things to come with some bright prospects.

Forwards Pete Michaelito, John Quintal, and Jim Ironside along with centers Rich Silveria and Mike Ryan were the top rebounders and scorers from the front line.

Guards Barry Nunes, Bob Takamura, and Jonas Simon concentrated on breaking the opponents press and passing off to the open men.

Highlighting the season was a pair of wins against Encinal.

Fairfield, the former swimming coach, added a great deal of enthusiasm to the basketball program as well as a sound understanding of basketball.

Alameda's Varsity Baseball Team, bolstered by some outstanding Senior lettermen and showing surprising strength from the pitching staff finished the season in a battle for the playoffs while posting a winning record.

Seniors returning included outfielders Gordy Olsen and Dave Young, infielders Dave McFann, Ash Crooker, Del Laviolette, and Craig Laguillo, and catcher Don Ratto. All played key roles in the teams success.

Young and Olsen headed the list. Both power hitting lefthanders led the team in hitting and RBI'S as well as demonstrating their defensive talents in center and right fields.

Newcomer Ted Smith started at second base and proved to be a slick glove man and was a key to the great number of double plays recorded during the year.

Also contributing to the team were Junior outfielder Dave Munor, Soph infielder Mike Cooper, and catchers Toby Chavez and Ken Gilmore.

In the end, however, the pitching corps proved to be the key to success. Senior starters Todd Wilcox and Steve Brown pitched back-to-back shutouts against St. Joseph and Dublin during the preseason, and continued their throwing during the ACAL competition.

Relievers Eugene Sonido and Ash Crooker also proved their capabilities during the long season.

Coach Leroy Bernadou contributed much to the pitchers success. Neither Wilcox or Brown had pitched at AHS prior to this season. Their success was a result of his hard work.

Mr. Archie Lowry assisted Bernadou with the varsity during the season.

J.V. Baseball Team Accentuates Youth

Alameda's Junior Varsity Baseball Team combined tough pitching and timely hitting on their way to a winning season.

Sophomore righthander Ray Quintana led a mound corps composed of juniors Tim White and Harry Rogers, and Frosh Charlie Neiderbrach and Bob Takamura.

The Hornets combined Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen for the first time on the J. V.'s. As a result several Frosh contributed heavily to the teams success.

Leading the hitters were centerfielder Dennis Regan, leftfielder Rusty Bailey, and Ray Quintana.

Other starters included second basemen Ray Bertolend, first basemen Brad Osborn, and outfielders Jim Ironside, Dennis Holt and Pat Morse.

Outstanding victories were posted over St. Joseph, Encinal, San Leandro, and Pacific.

Alameda's Girls Swim Team under the watchful eyes of coaches Ash Jones and Mary Curry, started off with something different this year. They held tryouts. After practicing for two weeks, the girls were cut down to thrity girls.

This years team was small in size but not in strength and depth. The girls proved their strength in the very first meet of the year as they captured the third place team trophy at the Carlmont Relay meet in October.

Swimming an exceptional season, the girls managed to win five consecuative meets.

In an exciting dual meet with Encinal, AHS finished their season happily defeating the Jet swimmers 75 to 68.

During the year, Janet Gaulbransen and Terrie Phillips broke records in butterfly and breastroke respectively.

Co-captians for 1973 season were Terrie Phillips and Barbara Snopkowski.

1974 Mermen "Streak" To Victory

The Hornet swimmers again finished the year with a winning season, and gave indications that the future is indeed bright. Losing only four seniors, Alameda will have a dozen juniors returning, Ron McGowan, Dennis Lopes, Lee Noble, and Eric Reichert are graduating this year. Aaron Placourakis, Carl Lundgren, Rich Firpo, Rick McKenna, Jared Pinegar and Grant Wilson had good times in ACAL Competition. Along with Louie Schroeder, Bob Follrath, John Placourakis, and Mark Williams should again win the ACAL.

Track: AHS Official Streakers

The Hornets varsity track team, despite only having 6 returning lettermen, all of them seniors, was a top contender as always.

The distance men this year were young, but certainly not inexperienced. Carrying out their job to a 100% average were Mike Sigmon, Dave Sabo, David Acosta, Danny Mills, and Cris Warren, all of who are truly outstanding runners.

Doing excellent jobs on the weight events were: Mark Berlin, Larry Plummer, Mike Roodevoets, and Dave Miller.

Sprinters and middle distance runners for Alameda were Robbie Kahuanui, Mark Perry, and Mark Richards. Jim Peirce, Norman Jensen, and Pete Ryan assisted in racking up points for the middle distance events.

Leading the triple, high and long jump was Dave Haber, who also put his skills to use in the hurdles.

'B' Track Builds For The Future

Alameda's B Track team, made up mostly of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors backed up the Varsity with their best effort. Coached by Mr. Thompson, Mr. Kern, and Mr. Fenstermaker, they put out their all.

Most of the B's also ran Varsity on and off. In the middle distances were Randy Wight, and Bill Withrow. In the sprints was Ron Arnerich, who ran an outstanding 440.

In the jumps there was Mike Souza, Jesse Brewer, Bill Dodge and Don Brownson. The pole vault was taken care of by Ron Moore, Kent Yamawaki and Kade Munns.

They were very young, but showed that they could put out a constant 100%.

Females Integrate Tennis Team

For the first time in the history of Alameda High, female athletes won block letters in tennis.

Not only were the girls on the team, they proved to be better than most of the boys.

Lettermen Ron Lucky and Robbie Silverman played one and two singles, but the fairer sex took over from there.

Frosh Lisa Kearney and soph Cindi Payne won a majority of their matches as third and fourth singles, respectively.

Student Body President Allison Kapchan played the final singles spot.

Pam Baughman, Diana Souza, Anne Hasegawa, Doug Buettner, and Ken Pries played on the doubles team.

The Hornets finished behind Berkeley and San Leandro in ACAL play.

Coach Stretch Pearson's golfers, again one of the top teams in the league were led by the team captain John Snopkowski and transfer Bruce Zulaica. The Hornets dominated most opponents.

Other top players included Andy Paisal, Roger DeMonte, Doug "Goofy" Poole, Kevin Pye, Jeff Cheng, Brad Spier, Scott Kriens, and Frank Piro.

Gymnasts Qualify For Elite Meet

The Alameda High School womans Gymnastics Team, completed another year as the most successful team in the school. Coach Carol Clymo, assisted by manager Patty Thomas, had the task of teaching the 25 new girls who tried ou for the team the four routines necessary in competition. Leading the team in the four events were; balance beam, Karen Healy and Barb Maricle; bars, Judy Broughton and Arlene Bernardino; floor exercise, Ellen Noble and Enita Mullin; vaulting, Connie Espinoza and Kathy Bellas.

Classes

"S" Club President Pam Lothian kept the club running this year with the help of Vice President Denise Laikin, Corresponding Secretary Kathy Cirmelli and Recording Secretary Kathy Herrera. These officers watched over the planning of activities for the Spring semester, with the help of Treasurer Barbara Berges.

Senior Director Karen Pacheco and Junior Director Rita Goodman took care of attendance of meetings and relaying important information.

The club sponsored a Halloween Party on Oct. 31, and a Christmas Party on Dec. 20 at Lum School for the handicapped children.

Also included was a combined Fashion Show entitled "Holly Daze" with Encinal High. All of the proceeds were directed towards taking the English as a second language class to San Francisco.

They also managed the Toys for Tots drive, to help needy families in Alameda have a Merry Christmas.

Dancers Perform Thoughout the Year

The Dance Club has been very active this year. On Dec. 7, the club presented a Dance Concert, and on Dec. 10 they performed at the Christmas Pageant. On March 22 and 23, the Club performed a Musical, and sponsored a Spring Candy Sale. April was the setting for the Spring Concert, concluding the year with many beneficial activities.

G.A.A. Speeds Ahead In Money Raising Activities

Miss Davis and the members of G.A.A. have been very busy this year. Beginning with the Welcome Picnic in September and ending with the awarding of scholarships at the 1974 graduation ceremonies.

Other activities were the G.A.A. Carnival, an overnight Ski trip, Candy Sale, car wash, T-shirt sale, and a number of playdays with other schools.

The club tried something new this year, a pilot course in backpacking. They're hoping that if the course works out it can become an open class in the future years at AHS.

Courtesy Board And Usheretts Serve AHS

The Courtesy Board of AHS is just what it proclaims to be. The members worked at Parents Night, babysat for Alameda School District Volunteers, made Easter eggs for teachers and helped with Open House.

The Usherettes played an important part in making the All-School Play, Senior Play, and the 100th graduation at AHS great successes. These two groups of ladies give their services to our school without the recognition they deserve. So from AHS, "Thank you".

Ski Club Reveals "Hotdogging" Talents

Of the 160 members of the Ski Club a majority of them were able to attend the five trips this year. With combined efforts of officers and sponsors in planning, the season was a great success.

Sponsors Dr. Gates and Mr. Daleney put together two trips to Heavenly Valley and three day-trips to Sugar Bowl, Alpine Meadows, and Squaw Valley, with ideal snow conditions at all times.

Money raising activities were candy sales and two car washes that netted enough for many members to attend trips that otherwise would have been impossible. Officers are President Lynn Stiles, Vice-president John Larsen, Secretaries Lynn Pearson and Barb Snopkowski, and Treasurers Sandra Jay and Elaine Scott.

French Club

Under the guidance of Ms. Cassandra Robinson, the French Club had a very successful year. Included in activities during the 73-74 year were singing at the Girls Club for the International Party, Christmas caroling and Pot Luck Dinner with Encinal on the Naval Base. Also during the year they attended several French movies and went to "Le Bistro" for a quiet French Dinner.

Robert Glynn was Fall President while Nancy Higbee supervised the Spring Semester.

Horse Pucky, CSF, B. of C Active

Members of the Horse Pucky Club formerly known as the Political Research and Debate Club, have somewhat livened up the AHS Club Life. President Keith Van Sickle and club members participated in such activities as a Photography field trip, a Cal Berkeley tour, garage sales, and even supported Gordo's candidacy in the spring Student Body elections. While the club spirit promoted high interest in the field of Horse Pucky, the club had an even more abundance of enjoyment doing so.

C. S. F. this year had its usual high attendance and organization as it stimulated interests, fostered pride in high standards of scholarships, and encouraged further education for highly qualified young students.

Board of Control made it's annual contribution of service to the football and basketball games and the twice a month student body meetings.

Chess Club Performs

The Chess Club is organized to provide AHS with a five man team to compete in the Alameda County Chess League. It is open to anyone interested in chess, whether a beginner or an experienced player. The club meets most days during lunch in Room 211.

Players are rated according to strength and a new member can challenge stronger and stronger players as he improves. The five top chess players in the club compete in chess tournaments against other Alameda County Schools.

At the end of the season in April, trophies are presented to the two top teams in each division, as well as the top individual players in the league. AHS Chess Team members also receive block letters for their efforts.

Key and Keyettes Work Together

Key Club President Brian Boerman led the Key Club to one of it's best years ever. With assorted parties for the handicapped kids at Whitton School in Oakland, and a Raider-Jaycee basketball game, they provided fun for many children and adults.

They went to a convalescent home once a week and provided bingo and cards for the patients.

As fund raisers they had a Penny Market sale, collected Christmas trees, and donated money to the Muscular Distrophy Association.

Officers included Brian Boerman, president; Bill Whitton, first vice-president; Glenn Bulman, second vice-president; Corey Rooks, secretary; Glen Rasmusen, treasurer; Willy Cox, senior director; Mark Rogers, junior director; and Craige Bryant, sophomore director.

Keyettes also had a successful year. They performed many services to the community such as painting rooms at the family service agency, beach and Park St. clean-up, babysat at Kiwanis luncheon, and they polished the trophies in the display case near the school bank.

Holidays were celebrated by having parties with the Key Club, and members also enjoyed themselves at a volley-ball game with the Kiwanis.

Clubs Get It Together

Under the leadership of club President Mike Smith, the AHS MODEL UN CLUB shattered all previous financial and conference records. Helping were Vice-President Richard Avery, Public Relations Secretary Mike Sigmon, and Recording Secretary Sandra Henderson.

Model UN delegates watched history in the making as they debated current topics as the energy crisis, nuclear arms limitation, environmental questions and many other problems of international latitude.

THE INTERACT CLUB, which meets once a month, is open to the male students from the sophomore to senior levels with a dues of $1.00. The Club's main occupation is as a Service Club to the community.

Coin Club Exhibits Coins to Public

The Coin Club holds weekly meetings where members discuss and trade coins. The club also subscribes to three publications which help members determine the value of their collections. The members often attend coin shows in San Francisco and El Cerrito. On occasion they set up coin shows of their own.

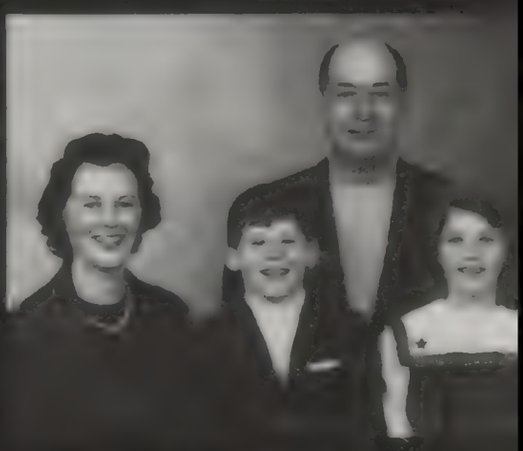
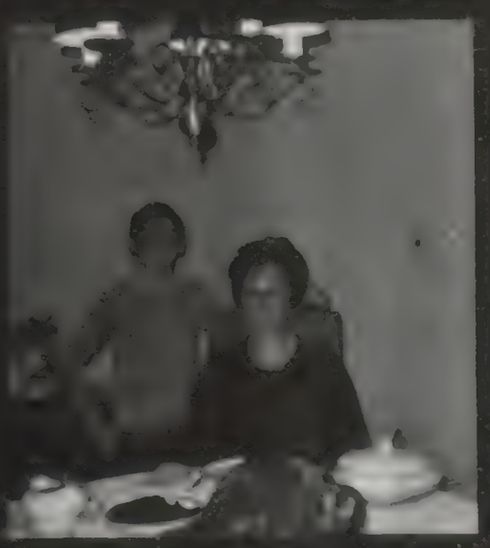
Ted Henderson

Alameda High School students mourned the loss of one of their fellow classmates, Ted Henderson. Ted, a freshman, was well liked by all his classmates.

Born in Alameda, he had lived in New York and Japan, because of his fathers occupation. Ted was active in art classes at school and was quite good at it. He belonged to Explorer Post 747 sponsored by World Airways. He came back to Alameda a year ago and had attended his 8th grade year at Lincoln school. All of Alameda High is saddened by his loss.

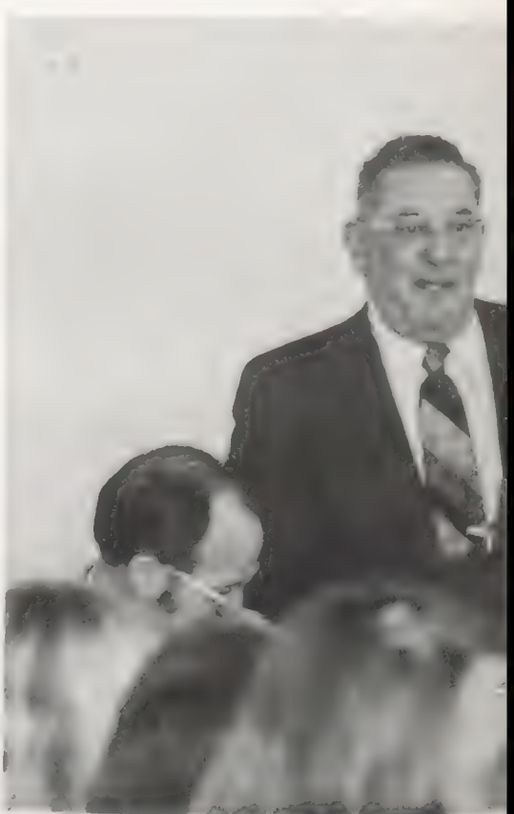




AHS Says Good-Bye to Long

Lowell Mell, Harry J. Price, Barry Conner and Dr. McConnell congratulate retiring custodian AL LORENZANA.

Al Lorenzana's retirement after forty years of service was climaxed by a reception of family and friends at Encinal Yacht Club.



At the semi annual GAA Awards Spread, Al Lorenzana makes a grateful comment after receiving a gold putter for his long hours of service to AHS.

Time Friend and Custodian, Al Lorenzana

Harry J. Price presented the AHS Buzzy to Mr. and Mrs. Al Lorenzana.

Phelps Euler and Les Camper, present custodians at AHS, rehash fond memories together.

R.O.T.C. Curriculum
Broadens Cadets' Experience

The early morning flag raising ceremony at Alameda High School is a proud tradition carried on by the Alameda High JROTC Cadet Battalion. The flag raising tradition was started more than 50 years ago in the fall of 1923 when the Alameda Cadet Corps was first authorized.

The JROTC curriculum, a flexible one, broadens the cadets' experience and provides them with a means of self-development. It stresses the importance of physical education and development, as well as good citizenship and self discipline.

A variety of activities are offered through JROTC, which is now open for participation by the girls. Among these are drill teams, honor guards, rifle teams, field trips to various military installations, orientation flights in various aircraft, and various cadet social events.

Mr. Stanford-
3 years have gone by so fast-
I hope the next two are more leftover 's more than which they probably will since then Summer-
have a great summer-Take it for what it's worth
Love,
Maria
